

Mr Karoly Balazs Erdei (Charlie)

As teachers, how can we help our students achieve the educational outcomes that the ministry of education of thailand is trying to achieve?

desired educational outcomes:

- learner person
- innovative co-creator
- active citizen

There must be a shift in how the education system works, and what is being done in the classrooms. Teachers have to teach students how to conceptualize, reason, critique, decide, create, and solve problems. If the focus is on these, students will also learn that lifelong learning is essential in our time. („critique”) Creativity must be fostered by having the students to „create” things and ideas, and „solve problems”. Active citizenship takes its origin in all the above, too.
